The Salt Lake City Planning Department is holding its second North Temple Boulevard Planning Open House this Thursday night. The community is invited to come and share ideas and input on the proposed Boulevard.

The creation of the North Temple Boulevard will be the first step in establishing a new and vibrant entrance for the western corridor into the City. With a new TRAX line set to run down North Temple to the airport, the City is eager to begin moving forward with plans on how to make this historic stretch of land reflect the City's rich history. Free snacks and refreshments will be available along with activities for children.
